ANTH 2250: RACE & ETHNIC RELATIONS: DISCOVERING NEW SOLUTIONS – ONLINE COURSE

Course Objectives

• To examine, discuss, and debate the CURRENT ISSUES and MAJOR concepts and theories associated with race and ethnic relations in the U.S.

• To highlight the major race and ethnic relations issues locally in eastern NC, each region of the U.S., and the U.S. in general.

• To apply anthropological techniques to collect cultural data on specific issues on race and ethnic relations.

• Develop individual and/or group race and ethnic relations solutions.

Professor Eric Bailey

ANTH 2250
ONLINE
baileye@ecu.edu
*Course fulfills Social Science General Education AND Domestic Diversity credits