ANTH 4501 CAREERS IN ANTHROPOLOGY

Spring 2021       Wednesday 12-12:50 p.m.       1 s.h. credit
(online, synchronous)

Dr. Daniel and Dr. Mathews (mathewsh@ecu.edu)

This class is beneficial for all levels of students, not just graduating seniors!

This course will teach you how to identify and develop your skills, write a professional resume, find job opportunities, develop a Linked-in profile, interview successfully, explore public service through Peace Corps and AmeriCorps, and prepare for graduate or professional school.

We will have alumni guest speakers to talk about their jobs and how they found them in a range of careers from archaeological work with FEMA, cultural research in business and medical settings to museum curation and forensic work.
